FOREWORD

H.E. Mr. Miguel Ángel Moratinos

HIGH REPRESENTATIVE FOR THE

“The truth is – today more than ever – diversity is the reality that informs human life. Diversity means embracing pluralism in nations and cities, tribes and villages, in ethnicities and identities, in beliefs, faiths, and traditions.”

As I embark on this mission of leading an organization the inception of which I witnessed more than fifteen years ago, and as I saw it grow to maturity, I cannot help but contemplate what we have achieved so far, what the challenges are and what the way forward is. Today, it feels like déjà-vu. The context and raison d'être that set the stage for the creation of the Alliance of Civilizations in 2005 is more or less still the same. Our world today is facing complex challenges that have snowballed over the years and reached epic proportions. Societies are divided across ethnic and religious lines. Racism, xenophobia, anti-Semitism, and Islamophobia are on the rise and often leading to a vicious circle of violence and terrorist attacks.

In 2005, the Alliance of Civilizations was officially created as a political initiative of the Secretary-General under the co-sponsorship of the Governments of Spain and Turkey.

Despite all efforts, inciters of hate take pride in driving a wedge between different ethnic groups and civilizations. For them, diversity is a source of division, instead of a basis for dialogue and richness.

I would like to quote here Albert Camus, one of my favorite authors of all time who said: “Without culture, and the relative freedom it implies, society, even when perfect, is but a jungle.”

These challenges require our collective resolve. The battle for ideas, for our shared values, never ends.

The truth is – today more than ever – diversity is the reality that informs human life. Diversity means embracing pluralism in nations and cities, tribes and villages, in ethnicities and identities, in beliefs, faiths, and traditions.

I came from the Iberian Peninsula, a region that flourished through the interaction of Muslim, Christian and Jewish traditions. Our religions are tied to one another in a fundamental and indelible fashion. Our cultures are intertwined together in a spectacular mosaic forming the universe that we all share. We are all global citizens of the world.

As such, the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations was created to embrace and promote those core values of compassion, tolerance, and respect of the other. The motto it carries is “Many Cultures, One Humanity.”

To live up to that motto, my renewed vision for the Alliance rests in this proposed Decalogue:

1. Respect for all nations and peoples, regardless of their creed, culture, and civilization
2. Dialogue as an essential tool for engaging in a better understanding of different cultures and perspectives
3. Tolerance as a basis of respect for every person's human dignity and fundamental rights with full appreciation for the rich diversity of our world's cultures and civilizations
4. Empathy as an ethical virtue to build bridges of mutual understanding and cooperation in our quest for universal acceptance and peaceful coexistence
5. Inclusion as a process that promotes the full and equal right of individuals and groups to participate in their society regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation and gender identity, or disability
6. Diversity as a positive and enriching concept; a just imperative, inseparable from respect for human dignity
7. Solidarity as a commitment to help others in difficult situations in a spirit of mutual assistance and concern
8. Dignity and equal rights of all members of the human family as interdependent and mutually reinforcing and forming the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world
9. Multiculturalism as a process of expressing diversity in an age of globalization and not simply an attitude or view about others
10. “Convivencia” or “living together” as a sacred duty and attitude of peaceful coexistence

"In these troubled times, the Alliance is a unique and inclusive platform for Member States, the private sector, youth, civil society and the media to exchange views and commit to dialogue and new partnerships. It is closely aligned with my own priorities and the vision that I have outlined in my prevention agenda."

H.E. Mr. António Guterres
United Nations Secretary-General
addressing the Group of Friends at the 8th UNAOC Global Forum
(November 2019, UN Headquarters, New York)

"Only a comprehensive coalition will be able to avert any further deterioration of relations between societies and nations, which could threaten international stability. The Alliance seeks to counter this trend by establishing a paradigm of mutual respect between civilizations and cultures."

H.E. Mr. Kofi Annan
Former UN Secretary-General

"In a world of suspicion and fear, the Alliance is forging trust and understanding. Its projects support young innovators, provides resources for journalists, and honor leaders who encourage dialogue."

H.E. Mr. Ban Ki-moon
Former UN Secretary-General
at the 7th UNAOC Global Forum (April 2016, Baku, Azerbaijan)

WHAT IS UNAOC?

HISTORY

CONTEXT AND BASES FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF UNAOC

In the aftermath of 9/11 and in the context of the global war on terrorism, Samuel Huntington's theory of the Clash of Civilizations, and a chain of terrorist attacks around the globe, Spanish Prime Minister Mr. José Luis Rodríguez Zapatero formulated the idea of an "Alliance of Civilizations" in his first speech to the United Nations General Assembly in New York on 21 September 2004.

"In my capacity as representative of a country created and enriched by diverse cultures, before this Assembly I want to propose an Alliance of Civilizations between the Western and the Arab and Muslim worlds."

Mr. Zapatero's idea of an Alliance of Civilizations came at a time when the United Nations recognized an urgent need to fill a policy gap in the governance of cultural diversity, which was threatened by growing divisions between communities, the rise of violent extremism, the polarization of attitudes and world perceptions, and frequent manifestations of intolerance, xenophobia, and racism.

Following Mr. Zapatero's speech, the idea of an Alliance of Civilizations was discussed with United Nations Secretary-General Mr. Kofi Annan who agreed to form a working group to explore the potential of the initiative. Soon after, Turkish Prime Minister Mr. Recep Tayyip Erdoğan joined Mr. Zapatero as the co-sponsor of the Alliance of Civilizations.

FORMAL LAUNCH OF UNAOC

On 14 July 2005, United Nations Secretary-General Mr. Kofi Annan formally announced the launch of the Alliance of Civilizations to Member States in a statement at the United Nations Headquarters in New York. On that occasion, he referred to the new initiative as a response to the need for a joint effort on the part of the international community to build bridges, overcome prejudices and avoid polarization. He also stated that the Alliance of Civilizations should be a collaboration against extremist forces and a movement to strengthen mutual respect for traditions and religious beliefs. The Alliance of Civilizations henceforth became a special initiative of the United Nations Secretary-General with the co-sponsorship of the Governments of Spain and Turkey.

H.E. Mr. José Luis Rodríguez Zapatero,
Former Prime Minister of Spain, addressing the UN General Assembly in 2004

MISSION AND VISION

The complex, demanding dialogue of civilizations, cultures, and religions is necessary, possible, and fruitful. It is a critical tool against isolation, mistrust, and confrontation and it is also the most powerful incentive for understanding, and tolerance. History has shown that dialogue is not a simple process, but that if we fail to teach and cultivate it, the situation can give way to a monologue or to mutism, which is conducive to conflict and violent extremism.

The Alliance of Civilizations was created to serve as a soft-power political tool of the United Nations Secretary-General for conflict prevention and conflict resolution. It is a coalition against extremist forces, a movement to advance mutual respect for cultures, traditions and religious beliefs, and a platform to bridge divides and overcome prejudice, misconceptions, misperceptions, and polarization.

The Alliance of Civilizations was intended to promote collective action in society as a means of addressing the threats that emerge from the hostile perceptions that foment violence, overcoming cultural and social barriers, reducing tensions and improving relations between societies and communities with diverse cultural and religious backgrounds, and combatting violent extremism.

“The important element here is to ensure the optimal use of limited resources and to act with a spirit of serving humanity, rather than competition.”

H.E. Mr. Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, President of Turkey, addressing the first Alliance of Civilizations Forum
as Prime Minister of Turkey in 2008

HIGH-LEVEL GROUP REPORT

On 2 September 2005, United Nations Secretary-General Mr. Kofi Annan announced the establishment of a High-Level Group to provide guidance to the work of the Alliance of Civilizations. Comprising 20 eminent personalities from the fields of politics, academia, civil society, finance, and the media and from all United Nations Regional Groups, the Group was tasked with exploring the roots of polarization between societies and cultures, and recommending concrete action plans to address them. To do so, it met five times between November 2005 and November 2006, in Palma de Mallorca, Spain; Doha, Qatar; Dakar, Senegal; Istanbul, Turkey; and at the United Nations Headquarters in New York.

The High-Level Group's report, published on 13 November 2006, put forth recommendations that became the guiding principles for the implementation of the Alliance. In particular, it identified four priority areas of action for the Alliance of Civilizations, which all play a critical role in reducing cross-cultural tensions and building bridges between communities, and to which the Alliance of Civilizations should bring a multidisciplinary and multi-perspective approach: Youth, Education, Media, and Migration.

INSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT

On 10 November 2009, the United Nations General Assembly recognized the mandate of the Alliance of Civilizations by adopting resolution A/RES/64/14 "The Alliance of Civilization," acknowledging the importance of intercultural and interreligious dialogue in promoting tolerance and expressing its continuous support for the work of the Alliance of Civilizations.

However, given the hybrid nature of the Alliance of Civilizations, ambiguity concerning its status as an entity within the United Nations system persisted. The then High Representative for the Alliance of Civilizations, H.E. Mr. Nassir Abdulaziz Al-Nasser, supported by the co-sponsors Spain and Turkey, began lobbying for a United Nations General Assembly resolution with the aim of institutionalizing the status of UNAOC within the United Nations system, and their months-long efforts were fruitful.

On 6 July 2015, Member States demonstrated their support for the work and achievements of the Alliance of Civilizations and adopted by consensus General Assembly resolution A/RES/69/312 "United Nations Alliance of Civilizations," hence affirming the status of the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations (UNAOC) as an initiative of the United Nations Secretary-General, an entity within the United Nations system. The resolution reiterated the valuable role of UNAOC in promoting greater understanding and respect among civilizations, cultures, religions, and beliefs.

UNAOC benefits from the political support of its Group of Friends, a community of countries and international organizations that actively promotes the work and objectives of UNAOC at the global, regional and local levels.

The Group of Friends is a driving force of UNAOC and plays a vital role in its planning and implementation process. Through a broad dialogue-based and consensus-building approach, the High Representative for UNAOC seeks the input, advice, and support of the Group of Friends' members on all key aspects of UNAOC's activities and mandate.

UNAOC's Group of Friends currently includes 146 Members, including 119 United Nations Member States, 1 non-member state, and 26 international organizations. UNAOC'S FOUR PILLARS

While active on a number of cross-cutting issues, UNAOC works mainly in four priority areas to which it brings a multidisciplinary and multi-perspective approach: Youth, Education, Media, and Migration. The four pillars of UNAOC provide an essential organizing structure for the development and implementation of its various programmes and initiatives, which all play a critical role in reducing cross-cultural tensions and building bridges between communities globally.

YOUTH

Young people are critical agents for social change, economic growth, development and technological innovation. It is crucial to recognize youth not only as a source of mobilization, but as autonomous actors and partners. They are our most important pool of talent, ideas, energy, and passion. Through education, training, and many other opportunities for innovation and creativity, UNAOC empowers youth globally and recognize them as powerful agents for social change.

MIGRATION

Virtually every state is both a country of origin and of destination for migrants. In a world of porous borders, rapidly evolving modes of transportation and communications, and globalized economies, diverse populations are destined to interact. This phenomenon presents new challenges that need to be addressed, but also opportunities that need to be harnessed. With its Migration programmes, UNAOC addresses the many facets of migration with the goal of fostering inclusive societies that respect the human rights of all.

UNAOC
United Nations Alliance of Civilizations

MEDIA

Traditional and new media play a crucial role in influencing public perception, narratives, and attitudes and therefore hold the potential to bridge cultural divides. With the advent of the Web and a plethora of new news sources, social media, blogs, and other websites run by citizen journalists, UNAOC media projects focus on building the critical media literacy skills required to receive the ever-increasing speed and volume of information, and on training journalists so they can do their work to the best of their abilities.

EDUCATION

Education systems today face the challenge of preparing young people for an interdependent world that is unsettling to individual and collective identities. Education about one's own history fosters a sense of community and solidarity, but it must be balanced by knowledge of global issues and an understanding and appreciation of other societies and cultures. Education in its various forms – including music, sports, art, drama and film – can help build bridges between communities and people. Through its Education programmes, UNAOC enables citizens to acquire intercultural competencies and critical thinking skills to help foster cross-cultural dialogue and overcome cultural stereotypes and intolerance.

WOMEN AS PEACE MEDIATORS (new focus area)

The High-Representative intends to propose adding "women as peace mediators" to the areas of focus of UNAOC. Integral to the vision of the United Nations Secretary General on prevention is the inclusion and women's empowerment in their fullest sense. He has committed to integrate gender perspectives in mediation efforts dispatching women leaders as mediation envoys.

ADVOCACY AND AREAS OF FOCUS

The High Representative for UNAOC delivers political interventions on a range of topics, including supporting attempts to increase the role of mediation efforts to promote the integration of migrants and refugees, as well as a broader space for dialogue for young women and men as a means of empowering youth in combatting radicalization and violent extremism. Other areas of priorities for the High Representative include:

Intercultural and interreligious dialogue and understanding

Peacebuilding, conflict prevention and conflict resolution

Media information literacy

Preventing violent extremism

Preventing xenophobia and hate speech

Sports for social change

Diversity and social inclusion

The role of women in peacebuilding

HOW DOES UNAOC MAKE A DIFFERENCE?

As a unique political initiative of the United Nations seeking to build intercultural dialogue, trust and understanding among people and communities around the world

As a mobilizing force that achieves results in partnerships with governments, international organizations, religious, faith-based organizations, civil society groups, youth, and foundations

As an action-driven initiative that implements and supports innovative projects on the ground, primarily in the fields of Education, Youth, Media and Migration

As a global bridge builder and convener connecting people and organizations devoted to promoting trust and understanding across communities

As a creative laboratory within the UN that seeks to foster innovative and impactful cross-cultural initiatives that can be used as soft power tools.

LEVERAGING PARTNERSHIPS

Since its inception, UNAOC has become the leading United Nations platform for intercultural dialogue, understanding, and cooperation.

At the heart of UNAOC's operational work lies the notion of partnership. These partnerships with wide-ranging actors, including Member States, international organizations, faith-based organizations, and civil society, multiply and amplify the impact and relevance of UNAOC.

UNAOC emphasizes the role of civil society organizations and grassroots leaders at the local level who share its values and goals and who undertake actions in line with the objectives, rules, and policies of the United Nations. UNAOC also values the participation of private sector entities as full partners in this process. Private sector partnerships through joint initiatives or philanthropic support for social programmes can amplify societal impact.

UNAOC IN THE CONTEXT OF THE UNITED NATIONS SUSTAINABLE GOALS

UNAOC's project activities are strongly aligned with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, particularly:

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOAL 4

Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all

In increasingly multicultural contexts that shape our lives, peace education is fundamental to address ignorance and mistrust that are often the source of human conflict. UNAOC works actively to enable the global community to acquire intercultural competencies, critical thinking skills, and to promote values of diversity and non-violence with the objective of fostering cross-cultural dialogue and overcoming cultural stereotypes and intolerance.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOAL 16

Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels

Peace, security, human rights, and development are mutually reinforcing elements; without peace there is no chance for development. Building tolerance, respecting diversity, and promoting co-existence is a moral obligation if mankind wants to advance just, peaceful, and inclusive societies. High levels of armed violence and insecurity have a negative impact on a society's development, affecting economic growth and often resulting in long-standing grievances among communities that can last for generations. Most conflicts in the world today have - in reality or perception - a cultural dimension. This dimension is what UNAOC tackles with its activities, including peacebuilding and mediation efforts, and by working with governments and communities to find lasting solutions to conflict and insecurity.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOAL 17

Strengthen the means of implementation and revitalize the global partnership for sustainable development

Mutual fear, suspicion, and ignorance across cultures have spread beyond the level of political leadership into the hearts and minds of populations. This disturbing trend must be addressed strategically and pragmatically by including all sectors of society into the conversation of increasing tolerance and inclusion and preventing polarization and violent extremism. UNAOC works as a platform, convener, and facilitator to bring all actors of society together to enhance dialogue and collaboration as a prerequisite towards greater understanding and trust amongst societies.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOAL 5

Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls (new focus area)

Societies are only inclusive when women are part of the decision-making process. When women are empowered, the whole society is empowered. The High-Representative for UNAOC Mr. Moratinos intends to propose adding "women as peace mediators" to the areas of focus of UNAOC. Integral to the vision of the UN Secretary-General on prevention is the inclusion and women's empowerment in their fullest sense. Mr. Moratinos has committed to integrating gender perspectives in mediation efforts dispatching women leaders as mediation envoys.

YOUTH SOLIDARITY FUND

The Youth Solidarity Fund (YSF) provides seed funding to youth-led organizations that propose projects with innovative and effective approaches to intercultural and interfaith dialogue. The funded initiatives are youth-led and youth-focused but have an impact on entire communities. The Fund also links small scale and local work to larger movements for social and global change, to promote peacebuilding as well as to influence policymaking. In addition to the funding, UNAOC offers technical support and capacity- building to YSF recipient organizations and, when needed, assists with advocacy, financial management, media relations, networking, monitoring, evaluation, and sustainability.

FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME

The Fellowship Programme promotes intercultural and interfaith understanding by engaging young civil society leaders from Europe, North America (EUNA), the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). Organized around two-week exchange trips between EUNA and MENA countries, the Fellowship Programme sends participants from each geographic area to their counterparts' region. The initiative aims at challenging perceptions and deconstructing stereotypes. Throughout their journey, UNAOC Fellows interact with a wide range of local stakeholders. Together, they explore opportunities for intercultural collaboration and exchange ideas and good practices on how to address current global challenges. Each year, UNAOC chooses a different theme for the Fellowship programme that reflects the priorities of the United Nations Secretary-General.

YOUNG PEACEBUILDERS

Young Peacebuilders is a peace education initiative that is designed to support young people in gaining skills that can enhance their positive role in issues of peace and security and in preventing violent conflict. It also brings visibility to actions initiated by young people towards peace and the promotion of diversity and dialogue. UNAOC intends to implement this programme in different regions of the world to grow and strengthen the global movement of young peacebuilders, with the goal of integrating them in governmental peace processes and policies.

INTERCULTURAL INNOVATION AWARD

The Intercultural Innovation Award (IIA) is a global venture in partnership with BMW Group. IIA recognizes and supports the most innovative grassroots projects encouraging intercultural dialogue and cooperation around the world. Recipients receive a monetary grant and one year of mentoring support from UNAOC and BMW Group to help their projects expand and replicate. This model of collaboration between the United Nations system and the private sector creates a stronger impact, as both partners provide their respective expertise to ensure the sustainable growth of each project.

INTERCULTURAL LEADERS AND ALUMNI ENGAGEMENT

Recognizing the role of alumni in the implementation of its mandate and broader outreach, UNAOC created Intercultural Leaders in partnership with BMW Group, an exclusive skill and knowledge-sharing web platform, where over 600 alumni of UNAOC programmes and projects, professionals from partner organizations, and a group of mentors collaborate by exchanging knowledge, best practices, and expertise on addressing cross-cultural tensions. By providing this platform to facilitate networking and relationship building, UNAOC is able to assist its alumni in developing increased capacity to sustain their work. Promoting the values that underpin Intercultural Leaders also enhances UNAOC's role as a convener, catalyst, and thought leader.

#SpreadNoHate INITIATIVE

UNAOC's #SpreadNoHate initiative aims at preventing and countering hate speech and the negative portrayal of migrants and refugees in traditional and new media. Since its launch in late 2015, the initiative has promoted constructive dialogue on hate speech among media professionals, academia, and relevant NGOs, and allowed them to share best practices in preventing and countering hate speech in the media. To date, UNAOC has organized five international #SpreadNoHate Symposia at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, as well as in Baku, Azerbaijan, in Brussels, Belgium, in partnership with the European Union, and Cairo, Egypt. The #SpreadNoHate initiative also consists of an ongoing social media campaign that has consistently topped Twitter trends and comprehensive reports with recommendations.

PLURAL+ YOUTH VIDEO FESTIVAL

PLURAL+ Youth Video Festival is a joint initiative of UNAOC and the International Organization for Migration (IOM). The Festival invites the world's youth to submit original and creative videos focusing on pressing social issues, including migration, diversity, social inclusion, and the prevention of xenophobia. By supporting the global distribution of youth-produced media, PLURAL+ recognizes youth as powerful agents of positive social change in a world often characterized by intolerance and cultural divisions. With increasing interest and participation each year since 2009, PLURAL+ has become a premier global platform for youth media distribution.

PEACEapp

Initially designed with UNDP as a contest for digital games facilitating inter-cultural dialogue and violence prevention, PEACEapp developed into a series of hands-on workshops with young refugees focusing on the creation of video game apps for use on smart devices. PEACEapp creates a platform for mobile technologies to support creative forms of storytelling and digital narratives. The workshops and apps development also aim to connect young refugees to peers while building awareness about their situation and aspirations.

MEDIA AND INFORMATION LITERACY

In order to build a knowledge economy and create an information society, the definition of literacy is progressively expanding to include digital tools, technologies, and visual expressions. Today we face the phenomenon of "fake news." To address this threat, media consumers, especially young consumers, must build proper filters that will allow them to consider the information they receive carefully. By working with education experts, policymakers, and mass media producers, UNAOC's Media and Information Literacy (MIL) initiatives provide the knowledge necessary for individuals to become informed media consumers and producers. Often carried out in partnership with UNESCO, UNAOC's MIL initiatives include a multi-language web-based MIL clearinghouse, a global university network, yearly publications, teacher training workshops, and the development of MIL educational strategies to prevent violent extremism.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS

In resolution 69/312, the General Assembly recognized the critical role of UNAOC in promoting inter-religious and intercultural dialogue within the United Nations system. UNAOC works actively with religious leaders and faith-based organizations in three key areas: advocacy, capacity building, and knowledge management. Since 2013, UNAOC has organized or co-organized numerous events involving religious leaders and faith-based organizations, creating a global platform to discuss the best ways to advance the use of interreligious dialogue. UNAOC is also an active member and participant in inter-agency bodies, most notably, the Inter-Agency Task Force on Religion and Development (UNWPF).

OUTREACH AND COMMUNICATIONS

UNAOC places particular emphasis on outreach and communications to maximize the visibility of its programmes and activities and ensure maximum reach and impact. It attracts a robust following to its main website and microsites and regularly publishes targeted publications, in particular, its periodical newsletters that cover, inter alia, policy and advocacy, programmes and initiatives, and institutional development.

As of 2018, UNAOC social media followers total 130,000+ across major platforms and its digital outreach efforts reach new milestones every year in the context of organic web traffic and social media engagement. UNAOC works actively to engage its followers by publishing a wide range of multimedia materials, including infographics, digital cards, animated videos, video testimonials, photo galleries, brochures and flyers. Additionally, UNAOC regularly livestreams its meetings and events through its website, reaching a broader global audience.

UNAOC's digital media campaigns generate robust engagement and consistently top Twitter trends. During meetings, symposia, panel discussions, and other events, its real time social media coverage has proved immensely successful, reaching millions of users and generating record-setting metrics.

UNAOC also regularly supports the campaigns of other United Nations agencies, particularly when they pertain to its four main pillars. In turn, many United Nations agencies and entities, including the main United Nations social media accounts, regularly promote UNAOC programmes and activities on their digital platforms. UNAOC regularly celebrates landmark campaigns with other United Nations agencies to promote key international days by highlighting the relevant achievements of its programmes beneficiaries.

GLOBAL FORUMS

In its 2006 report, the UNAOC High-Level Group recommended that UNAOC organize a recurring Global Forum under United Nations auspices to provide a regular venue for representatives of governments, international organizations, civil society, and the private sector to forge partnerships and to express commitments for action.

UNAOC convened its first Global Forum in Madrid, Spain in 2008. Since then, it has organized seven additional Global Forums in Istanbul, Turkey (2009); Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (2010); Doha, Qatar (2011); Vienna, Austria (2013); Bali, Indonesia (2014); Baku, Azerbaijan (2016); and at the United Nations Headquarters in New York (2018).

Recognized as one of the premier multilateral events on cross-cultural dialogue, UNAOC's Forums generate high interest from governments and civil society, with an average attendance of approximately 3,000 participants. UNAOC and the host countries convene political leaders, representatives of international and regional bodies, religious leaders, youth, corporate executives, civil society groups, media and foundations for an open dialogue on reducing polarization between nations and launching joint initiatives to promote cross-cultural understanding globally.

The Global Forums offer a unique opportunity to forge partnerships among various stakeholders, showcase UNAOC programmes and initiatives, develop concrete projects on intercultural and inter-religious dialogue, and express commitments for action around the four pillars of Youth, Education, Media, and Migration.
